Q5. What is the moral of this story?

A: "Our children will be rebellious one day." This is what every parent experiences. Children grow up to be alienated from their parents. The characters in the story play around outside by coincidence. When they come back, their parents can't recognize and experience what they look like, and they don't care about their parents' ideas when they go out. This behavior is also true at my age. However, parents hope that they can also understand that if they don't play when they are young, they will regret it very much. The characters in the story should be children's age, so go play boldly! When you grow up, you will be under a lot of pressure, and it will be too late to be happy. Don't make trouble while having fun, and let your parents worry. This is a story discussing things like "friends" would do.

What have I gained?

Introduction.

Taiwan is a language based country where Chinese is mainly spoken and English is a secondary language. However, the greatest joy of learning English is to improve the ability of language communication. This is a sentence that English teachers often tell us, because a country only develops its own language without learning other languages, it is difficult to be in line with international standards. English is also the second most spoken language in the world. Therefore, we must learn English and apply it. We must have the determination and ability to learn English so that we don't regret it or use it improperly. Even if you learn phrases and words, you need to learn grammar. The most important part of communication is the grammar part. You can practice it well when you have the opportunity to face foreigners. In my twelve years of reading, I can take full advantage of English. Know the benefits of learning English. It can be used for trade, working in different places, making friends, or even solving political problems and recognizing cultural differences.

Body.

First of all, on the first day of entering vocational high school, I felt the atmosphere of freedom and the flexibility of learning. I do not have the learning pressure of junior high school, only the careful guidance of the teacher and the knowledge taught in professional textbooks allow me to truly apply what I have learned in my future studies. However, English is the subject I am least familiar with. Maybe the professional subject in the future will be the original language, and I will have the opportunity to communicate with foreign friends... My mother is Indonesian, she can speak English, but I didn't study with her well when I was a child, so now I can only understand Simple words and phrases. But this can make up for the lack of language ability. Therefore, in the past three years of vocational high school study, I organized class notes, watched more movies or TV channels with foreign knowledge, and improved my English vocabulary. English teachers assign homework, read fables and international news, and write English experiences. While doing homework, you can also learn English and follow current news. Before this, my level was not high. I often think. Why is English difficult to learn? I summarize the following points.

1. Unofficial language, unnecessarily reluctance to learn.

2. The time used cannot be found.
3. Missing prime study time.
4. Translation software tools are very convenient.
5. People who are reluctant to communicate with others.
6. People who do not have an international perspective.
7. If you give up decisively in the learning process, what are the benefits of learning English?

Based on the above point of view, this is also the reason why teachers also sigh for students. Language communication skills are important, but in the Chinese social concept, learn if you are useful, and don't learn if you are not!

Conclusion.

In conclusion, Think about it from another perspective. In this international society, everyone has a cell phone, and everyone in the world is like a neighbor, as if they are all around us. When I study " Dept. of Computer Science", I can take advantage of the technology. Students use the power of the internet and hardware resources to make better use of them in their studies. It's fun to learn English through interesting resources of audio-visual materials! I hope that with this idea, everyone will pay attention to English. I also thank the English teachers at the vocational high school for their attention to my English language skills! Through the assignment of homework and careful instruction on grammar...
